EDITORIAL NOTE

Transactions is a refereed journal for full-length articles, shorter research papers and research notes relating to the history (and, where appropriate, the historical archaeology) of the old counties of Lancashire and Cheshire, their predecessors and their successors. Articles submitted to Transactions do not have to have been read as part of the Society's lecture programme, nor does delivery of a lecture to the Society guarantee subsequent publication. We welcome contact from researchers and prospective authors and are always happy to discuss with them the potential for submitting appropriate forms of their work to the Transactions. We are again indebted to our referees for their expert comment on submissions, ensuring the continuing high standard of the Transactions, as well as to the authors themselves for submitting their work to this journal and, in some cases, responding positively to the suggestions made by our referees on their first submission.
